Introduction

Annual solar return charts based on Sun's return every year to his exact natal position are popular in Vedic and western astrology. As Sun shows the soul and Moon shows the mind, Vedic astrology gives importance to both Sun and Moon. Soli-lunar calendar based on both Sun and Moon is used for celebrating birthdays. It uses solilunar months based on Moon's phase (tithi) and solilunar years aligned to solar years and casts "Tithi Pravesha" charts (soli-lunar return charts).

Tithi Pravesha worked well for this author even with Lahiri ayanamsa. But divisional charts did not work consistently. The discovery of Pushya-paksha ayanamsa and refinement of the definitions of some divisional charts based on an independent interpretation of Parasara and experimentation, made divisional charts of Tithi Pravesha work more consistently. But there were still examples where it did not make compelling sense. In such corner cases, trying the same tithi in the previous or the next month explained things much better. Yet, there was no consistent definition that worked in all cases, though multiple definitions were tried.

When this author applied to Tithi Pravesha charts the solar year of the article "Re-defining Tajaka Varshaphal Charts", which can be accessed at <http://www.VedicAstrologer.org/articles>, Tithi Pravesha worked consistently in the corner cases found before. The new definition will be shared in this article with examples.

Solar Calendar

Before defining the solilunar calendar, let us define the solar calendar. A solar year is of 365.242 days (tropical) or 365.256 days (sidereal). Tropical solar year is the time period in which Sun traverses the tropical zodiac once. Sidereal solar year is the time period in which Sun traverses the sidereal zodiac once.

For casting Tajaka varshaphal chart every year, astrologers now-a-days use sidereal solar year, i.e. they find when Sun returns to his natal sidereal longitude. For defining solilunar years also, they use the same solar year as the reference for alignment. However, this is inconsistent with the teachings of Maharshi Parasara to Maitreya in "Vishnu Purana" chapter 2.8.

Maharshi Parasara taught Maitreya that a solar year consists of 2 ayanas and that each ayana consists of 3 ritus (seasons).

This link to seasons clearly points to tropical zodiac. A solar year based on tropical zodiac (i.e. the time Sun takes to traverse exactly 360° around the tropical zodiac) is tied to seasons.

For example, when Sun enters tropical Aries, day and night are of equal length and it is spring. When Sun enters tropical Cancer, day is the longest and it is summer (in northern hemisphere). When Sun enters tropical Libra, day and night are of equal length and it is autumn. When Sun enters tropical Capricorn, day is the shortest and it is winter (in northern hemisphere).

If we take the sidereal zodiac, it is not tied to seasons. When Sun enters sidereal Aries every year, he will be in the vicinity of particular stars associated with sidereal Aries, but the season changes over the years!

Not stopping at that, Maharshi Parasara explicitly taught Maitreya that Uttarayana starts when Sun enters Capricorn and the day length is the smallest then. When Uttarayana ends, Sun leaves Gemini and enters Cancer and the day is the longest then. That makes it obvious that Parasara is referring to tropical signs here!

Sidereal vs Tropical Zodiac

As mentioned above, Maharshi Parasara clearly used tropical zodiac when defining solar years in “Vishnu Purana”. But, when teaching divisional charts in “Brihat Parasara Hora Sastram”, he taught how nakshatras are aligned to rasis and how navamsas map to quarters of nakshatras. So he used sidereal zodiac there.

This author's conclusion is that both tropical and sidereal zodiacs are needed:

- Sidereal zodiac: Used for all matters related to space, i.e. definition of rasi chart and divisional charts
- Tropical zodiac: Used for all matters related to time, i.e. definition of months, seasons, ayanas and years.

Soli-lunar Calendar

Soli-lunar Month & Days

Some people start a soli-lunar month at exact Sun-Moon conjunction (Amanta calendar). Some people start it at exact Sun-Moon samasaptaka (Suklanta calendar).

Lord Krishna taught in Srimad Bhagavatam that the next Satya yuga will start when Sun, Moon and Jupiter exactly conjoin Pushya nakshatra (i.e. yoga tara of Pushya nakshatra). If yuga cycle starts at Sun-Moon conjunction, then so must the sub-divisions of yuga cycle such as yugas, years and months! After all, if a day starts at 6 am, the first hour must start at 6 am, the second hour at 7 am and so on. You cannot have an hour starting at 9:30 am.

So we conclude that soli-lunar months start and end at exact Sun-Moon conjunction.

Soli-lunar day or tithi is defined as $1/30^{\text{th}}$ of the period between 2 consecutive Sun-Moon conjunctions. It is the time in which the angle from Sun to Moon increases by 12° (i.e. $360^{\circ}/30$).

Soli-lunar Year

We define soli-lunar years by clubbing either 12 or 13 soli-lunar months and aligning them with solar years defined above.

For this purpose, we define 12 distinct soli-lunar months, each linked to the tropical zodiacal sign in which Sun and Moon conjoin when the month starts. A soli-lunar year contains 12 months corresponding to the 12 zodiacal signs. Month corresponding to one zodiacal sign may be repeated (i.e. Sun and Moon may conjoin in the same sign in 2 consecutive months). Such repetition comes twice every 5 years on average. For convenience, we will name the months based on the nakshatras associated with the sidereal counterparts of tropical signs.

For example, Chaitra month starts when Sun and Moon conjoin in tropical Pisces. The Chaitra month in traditional definition (based on sidereal Pisces) comes in spring now, but will come in summer (or even winter) after a few thousand years. With the above definition, it will come in spring always.

Tithi Pravesha Chart Definition

Annual Tithi Pravesha (TP) chart is cast every year when Moon is exactly at the same angle from Sun as at birth, in the same soli-lunar month as at birth.

This is what the final clause above means: The tropical sign occupied by Sun in the latest Sun-Moon conjunction chart is the same as the tropical sign occupied by Sun in the latest Sun-Moon conjunction chart before birth.

Judgment

An annual TP chart is judged just like the natal chart, except that it is effective for just one year. All divisional charts can be used.

In addition, the lord of the hora at the time of the TP chart is given special importance. He is the lord of the year. Houses occupied and owned by him in various divisional charts get particular importance during the year.

One can use nakshatra dasas compressed to a year. The method of picking the best nakshatra dasa in a chart, as given in the writeup “Unified Nakshatra Dasa Approach” at <http://www.vedicastrologer.org/articles>, can be used. This writeup uses some examples of nskshatra dasas in annual TP charts, but one should refer to the above article for more examples and also a clear explanation of how to pick the best dasa in a chart.

Picking the best nakshatra dasa in a divisional chart may require a more accurate birthtime than required for just knowing the lagna in a divisional chart. One can use it when confident of the birthtime.

Rasi Chart vs Divisional Charts: Rasi chart is like a combination of all floorplans of all floors in a multi-storey building, while divisional charts are like different floors. If the northeast corner has something in the combined floorplan, it may be in any floor. Similarly, if the 5th house is strong in rasi chart, it may show childbirth, promotion in job, academic distinction, successful mantra sadhana etc and we can check the 5th house in D-7, D-10, D-24, D-20 etc (respectively) for further insights. Indications in rasi chart may be weak, but have to be strong in the corresponding divisional chart.

Replicating Calculations

You can download “Jagannatha Hora” software from <http://www.VedicAstrologer.org/jh> and select Pushyapaksha ayanamsa. In addition, you will need to set some divisional chart calculation options to follow this write-up. Some divisional charts are computed incorrectly by people now-a-days.

In the main menu of “Jagannatha Hora” software (version 7.67 or higher), you can select “Preferences”, “Related to Calculations” and “Set Calculation Options as recommended by author”, to set divisional chart calculations as used in this write-up.

Comparison 1

We will first see a handful of examples that contrast:

- (a) the old definition (i.e. soli-lunar months defined based on sidereal signs)
- (b) the new definition given in this writeup (i.e. soli-lunar months defined based on tropical signs)

Example 1: Marriage

Birthdata: 1971 September 12, 8:25 am (IST), Guntur, India (80e27, 16n18)

Event: She got married in 1993 August.

At 8:25 am on 1971 September 12, angle from Sun to Moon was $0\text{Ge}48 - 26\text{Le}23 = 274^\circ 26'$ (in other words, 13.13% of Krishna Ashtami tithi was left).

The latest Sun-Moon conjunction before that day was on 1971 August 21 at 4:24:02 am. Sun at that time was at $4\text{Le}56$ in sidereal zodiac and at $27\text{Le}15$ in tropical zodiac. So either way, it is Leo (Bhadrapada month).

At 9:47:45 am on 1992 September 20, angle from Sun to Moon was $9\text{Ge}16 - 4\text{Vi}50 = 274^\circ 26'$ (in other words, 13.13% of Krishna Ashtami tithi was left). Notice that this angle matches that at birth.

The latest Sun-Moon conjunction before that day was on 1992 August 28 at 8:12:25 am. Sun at that time was at $12\text{Le}26$ in sidereal zodiac and at $5\text{Vi}03$ in tropical zodiac. Using sidereal zodiac, it is Leo (Bhadrapada month), i.e. just as at birth. So, using the traditional definition of soli-lunar months, annual TP chart is cast on 1992 September 20 at 9:47:45 am.

However, using the definition in this writeup based on tropical signs, this is a different month (Virgo)! So let us take the previous month.

At 12:14:02 am on 1992 August 22, angle from Sun to Moon was $10\text{Ta}45 - 6\text{Le}19 = 274^\circ 26'$ (in other words, 13.13% of Krishna Ashtami tithi was left). Notice that this angle matches that at birth.

The latest Sun-Moon conjunction before that day was on 1992 July 30 at 1:05:43 am. Sun at that time was at $14\text{Cn}17$ in sidereal zodiac and at $6\text{Le}54$ in tropical zodiac. Using tropical zodiac, it is Leo (Bhadrapada month), i.e. just as at birth. So, using the new definition of soli-lunar months given in this writeup, annual TP chart is cast on 1992 August 22 at 12:14:02 am.

Marriage is seen from navamsa (D-9) chart. Let us compare D-9 of the 2 dates & times we found above.

D-9 chart using the old definition (sidereal sign based soli-lunar months) is shown at the top (next page). Lagna lord and 7th lord are debilitated. The 7th lord is in the 8th house with the 6th lord. This D-9 chart is not showing any compelling indications of marriage during the year.

D-9 chart using the new definition (tropical sign based soli-lunar months) is shown at the bottom (next page). Lagna lord and 7th lord are together in the 7th house. This raja yoga is very favorable for getting married in the year. Moreover, the 7th lord in 7th (Jupiter) is also the ruler of the year (hora lord). This D-9 chart has far more compelling indications of marriage during the year.

Example 2: Job loss (Layoff)

Birthdata: 1970 April 4, 5:50:40 pm (IST), Machilipatnam, India (81e08, 16n10)

Event: He lost his job on 2002 August 12 when a start-up company went into hibernation mode and laid off most employees.

In the top chart, lagna lord Mars in 10th and 10th lord Sun in lagna make the chart very strong, despite the exchange between 5th and 12th lords. In the bottom chart, 8th lord Jupiter in 7th (maraka – a death like situation in career) compellingly depicts job loss.

Example 3: Going Abroad

Birthdata: 1972 May 14, 8:13:30 am (IST), Idar, India (73e00, 23n50)

Event: He left his motherland India in 2007 April for work.

Chaturthamsa (D-4) chart shows residence. The D-4 charts using the 2 definitions are shown below.

In the top chart, lagna lord is debilitated in 9th and 12th lord aspects 12th (though he is weak). Except that, there are no strong indications of leaving country in search of fortune in a foreign country. In the bottom chart, 12th and 9th lord is in lagna and lagna lord is in 9th, aspected by karaka and badhaka lord Rahu. Other badhaka lord

Saturn is exalted in 7th (long journeys). The 7th lord is exalted in 12th. There are ample indications of leaving motherland for fortune.

NOTE: Apart from the 2 definitions being contrasted, there is a 3rd definition. Some people use the “solar month” instead of soli-lunar month, i.e. we require Sun to occupy the same sidereal sign in the annual TP chart and natal chart (i.e. not in the most latest Sun-Moon conjunction chart). That definition mixes up solar months with soli-lunar days and not a consistent definition. In any case, while that definition also gives the bottom chart in previous 2 examples, it results in the top chart in this example and the next.

Example 4: Marriage

Birthdata: 1970 October 5, 12:32:20 pm (IST), 80e21, 15n49

Event: He got married in 1999 January.

Navamsa (D-9) chart shows wedding. The D-9 charts using the 2 definitions are shown below.

In the top chart, 7th lord is in lagna, but he is debilitated and weak. He is with 9th lord, but 9th lord is in gandanta and 6th lord is between them. Moreover, debilitated 7th lord and 9th lord in gandanta are both combust, being too close to Sun. Lagna lord Jupiter is afflicted and retrograde and not particularly strong. There isn't much promise in the chart to give wedding.

In the bottom chart, 7th lord is in 7th house and that makes it quite strong. The lagna lord is also in the 7th house with 7th lord (though Jupiter is in Ta, he is at 25°, while Lagna is at 5° in Sg. That places Jupiter in the 7th house). With 7th lord in 7th with lagna lord, this chart shows marriages in a more compelling manner.

Comparison 2

We will now see a handful of examples that contrast:

- (a) True Chitra-paksha (Lahiri) ayanamsa and the old (standard) definitions of divisional charts
- (b) Pushya-paksha ayanamsa and the reformed definitions of divisional charts preferred by this author

Example 5: Academic Distinction

Birthdata: 1970 April 4, 5:50:40 pm (IST), Machilipatnam, India (81e08, 16n10)

Event: He stood first in his state in 12th grade exams with a record score in May 1987 and also got admission to Indian Institute of Technology.

In the top chart, lagna contains a raja yoga between 9th and 10th lords. But 5th lord is in an inimical sign in 2nd house. The 5th house contains a functional malefic. Lagna lord is debilitated. There are no clear combinations for distinction and recognition.

In the bottom chart, the 5th lord is exalted in 5th with yogakaraka Saturn and lagna lord is in a trine in a friendly sign. This makes more compelling sense for distinction and recognition.

Event: She had a child in 2000 September.

Saptamsa (D-7) chart shows progeny. The D-7 charts using the 2 approaches are shown below.

In top chart, lagna is afflicted by 6th lord and lagna lord is debilitated, though he aspects 5th. All this makes the chart weak. Though 5th lord is exalted, the weakness of lagna and lagna lord makes this a weak chart.

In bottom chart, lagna contains 5th lord and yogakaraka in exaltation. Lagna lord is in 11th and aspects 5th. He is also the lord of the year. This chart is more powerful to indicate childbirth in the year. Moreover, as per compressed Vimsottari dasa from lagna of D-7 (lagna is used as Moon is in marana karaka sthana), it was the 10-day Saturn-Venus antardasa that gave childbirth! This makes compelling sense.

In the top chart, 5th house contains yogakaraka Mars and that is auspicious. But 5th lord is not particularly strong, being in an inimical sign. Lagna lord Sun is also weak, afflicted by Saturn.

In the bottom chart, 5th house contains 5th lord Venus in moolatrikona and lagna lord Mercury is in a trine in a friendly sign. Moreover, based on Vimsottari dasa from Moon of D-7, it was the 8-day Venus-Mercury antardasa that gave childbirth (Venus is 5th lord in 5th and Mercury is lagna lord in 5th from mahadasa lord)! This makes more compelling sense.

In the top chart, the 5th house of promotion contains Rahu and its lord Venus is in an inimical sign in the 8th house. Lagna lord Saturn is well-placed, but retrograde in a neutral sign. Overall, there are no strong indications of a job promotion in the year.

Lagna lord is strong in moolatrikona and lagna is aspected by 4th, 5th, 7th and 9th lords. So lagna and lagna lord are very strong. Moreover, based on Shodasottari dasa from Moon of D-10 (best dasa in this chart), Sun-Mercury antardasa gave the promotion (planets giving the raja yoga). That makes more compelling case.

Conclusion

Tithi Pravesha charts or annual soli-lunar year charts are re-defined in this write-up based on the definition of solar years taught by Maharshi Parasara to Maitreya in “Vishnu Purana” and the related soli-lunar years. Using Pushya-paksha ayanamsa, reformed definitions of divisional charts and the new definition of Tithi Pravesha charts, the efficacy of these charts to see the major events in a year is illustrated in this write-up.

It is hoped that intelligent and sincere students and researchers of this divine subject will take this knowledge further and contribute to a renaissance in Jyotish and other knowledge related to rishis.
