Sri Satya Devashtakam: Eight Verses in Praise of the God of Truth

(1) You are the ruler of Satya Loka (abode of Truth). O kind one, you are thought of by groups of Divine Sages and saints. You are the personification of Sattva guna. You wear white clothes. You are the Lord of Mother Rama (Lakshmi) and you are controlled by Mother Lakshmi.

O God of Truth, please give me a hand [and rescue me]!

(2) You take the form of the Om sound. You are devoid of any Gunās (attributes). You are the Yoni (source) for the entire universe. O ruler of the five elements, you are the protector of the worlds. You are to be worshipped at the time of Full Moon.

O God of Truth, please give me a hand [and rescue me]!

(3) You are always accompanied by Gouri, Shiva, Vishnu, Ganesha and Brahma (pancha loka palakas), by the nine planets and by Indra and other rulers of directions (dikpalakas). You are the permanent one and you are worshippable by the worlds.

O God of Truth, please give me a hand [and rescue me]!

(4) You are devoid of beginning and end. Your lotus feet are worshipped by gods. You are smeared with sandalwood and you have a splendid and auspicious body. Your forehead is adorned by the auspicious vertical lines. You are the supreme being.

O God of Truth, please give me a hand [and rescue me]!

(5) You have taken the forms of Matsya, Koorma, bearer of earth (Varaha), Narasimha, Sri Vamana, son of Jamadagni (Bhargava Rama), Ramachandra and Sri Krishna. You are Imperishable. You are Lord Vishnu.

O God of Truth, please give me a hand [and rescue me]!

(6) You are the beloved of the daughter of milky ocean (goddess Sri Lakshmi). You have a charming appearance. You break the misery of helpless devotees and give happiness and great fortune. You destroy the sins and impurities of devotees and deliver them from the noose of Kali (strife).

O God of Truth, please give me a hand [and rescue me]!

(7) Please crush the six terrible enemies called desire, anger, wantonness, jealousy, greed and delusion. Please give me sattva guna (purity of consciousness), peace and humility.

O God of Truth, please give me a hand [and rescue me]!

(8) O personification of Truth, please come and reside in my speech, in my head and in my heart, along with Sri Maha Lakshmi and other gods. You are endowed with all the three gunas. You have a superlative body/existence that is filled with the divine nectar of Truth.

O God of Truth, please give me a hand [and rescue me]!

CONCLUSION: Whoever reads this prayer composed of eight verses for Lord Satya Deva - the God of Truth - with devotion, may that person's sins be destroyed by the blessings of Lord Satya Deva.
